Escape the Herd

You may have heard the insight that the very best startups in hindsight often looked like terrible ideas at the time of their Seed fundraises. On its own, it's more like a good coffee table picture book- sort of profound, but not necessarily something you'd make life changes based upon.

IEEE N3XT® Star Highlight:

Genomic Expression

Genomic Expression is finding the best drug for the patient and the best patient for the drug by sequencing RNA. Analyzing RNA is able to tell if the tumor will respond to the new immune therapies, which is the only kind of therapy that is a potential cure.
